

ANOTHER CHANGE IN OPENING DATE

Mineral Exhibit Program Will Be Carried Out on February 7.

REQUISITIONS HONORED

Officers After Check-Flashers.
Violated Ten-Hour Labor Law.

It was decided at a conference held at the Governor's office yesterday morning to select Tuesday, February 7, as the date for the formal opening of the Virginia Mineral and Historical Exhibit in the State Library Building. January 21 was originally chosen, but because of a death in the family of the Governor, it was decided to postpone the opening until February 7, in order to give as nearly as possible the convenience of all the distinguished guests it has been moved back two days.

Those who took part in the conference were: Governor Mann, Captain W. W. Baker and John W. Owen, Jr., for the State, President Henry C. Wood, T. M. Carrington and Business Manager W. T. Dabney for the Chamber of Commerce, and J. A. Schuber, who has superintended the installation.

No change has been made in the program, which includes exercises and addresses in the Hall of Exhibits in the afternoon, followed by a dinner given to the guests in the evening. The Chamber of Commerce, heads of mineral companies and representatives of the McCormick family, all of whom have donated largely toward the exhibit, will be the hosts at the affair. The Chamber of Commerce will be the host at the affair. The Chamber of Commerce will be the host at the affair.

AFTER CHECK-FLASHERS

Demands for Requisitions Are Now Noticeably Frequent.

The energy with which check flashers, board bill jumpers and people who obtain money under false pretenses are now being traced from State to State, has become noticeable at the Capitol. Requisitions for persons wanted for these offenses are frequently issued or honored from other States. This condition is attributed to the activity of commercial agencies and the alliance of bankers to prevent frauds.

A requisition was yesterday honored by Governor Mann from Governor Austin L. Crothers, of Maryland, for Alfred T. Walton, who is wanted in Baltimore on a charge of "false pretenses." Walton was captured in Richmond on Wednesday by detectives, who had learned that Walton was calling on his mail at one of the city hotels. He is accused of obtaining $25 in money.

A requisition was also honored for Wilbur Jones, alias Clem Jones, who is wanted in Gloucester county, New Jersey, on a charge of deserting his family. The papers were issued by Governor John Franklin Ford, but before he turned his office over to Governor Woodrow Wilson.

According to the requisition, Jones pleaded guilty to the charge, and sentence was suspended on probation. He was arrested at Alexandria.

VIOLATED LABOR LAW

Manager Wins Decision When Advertising Doesn't Pay.

M. Powell, manager of the Fredericksburg Woolen Mills, was in Federal Court at Fredericksburg yesterday on a charge of violation of the ten-hour law. The case was handled by the Bureau of Labor, and Powell pleaded guilty to the charge and was given the minimum fine of $5 and costs.

When the manager inquired of the department's agent how the evidence was secured, the latter replied that he read it in the papers. It seems that there was a published statement to the effect that the mills were working overtime on rush orders. "Sometimes," remarked Mr. Powell, "it don't pay to advertise."

A Caperton Braxton, general counsel for the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company, yesterday confirmed the statement made by President William H. White in the appeal would be taken in the franchise tax case to the Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. White's announcement was made on the day the decision was rendered.

Corn Boys Get Diplomas.

Certificates of merit were issued yesterday from the Governor's office by the United Agricultural Board to the twenty-six boys in Virginia who made more than 100 bushels of corn to the acre the past year. This work was done under the direction of the board, with the aid of the demonstrators of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Bids Received on Medals.

A meeting of the committee of the State Military Board which has in charge the presentation of service medals in the Virginia militia was held yesterday in Adjutant-General Skelton's office. Several bids were received, but they varied on the different classes of medals to so great an extent that calculations will have to be made to determine the lowest bidder.

Adds to Alfalfa Land.

M. Zimpelman, manager of Captain J. B. Jack's now famous alfalfa farm in King George county, was in the city yesterday. He has seeded 150 acres in addition to his former cultivated area, and this year will have about 600 acres, all in alfalfa. Each year he gathers in a fortune from this property.

Mr. Engleston Away.

Superintendent J. D. Engleston, Jr., of the Department of Public Instruction, went to Lexington yesterday to attend the meeting of the board of visitors of the Virginia Military Institute.

World's Visible Supply.

New York, Jan. 20.—Secretary Hoover's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton, issued to-day, shows the total visible to be 5,256,915 bales against 5,241,555 last week, and 4,963,825 last year. Of this, the total of American cotton is 1,170,815, against 1,227,565 last week, and 1,352,925 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 1,126,000, against 1,117,690 last week, and 1,216, 000 last year.

Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and Continental Europe 2,570,000, against 2,553,000 last year, in Egypt, 233,000, against 225,000 last year, in India, 105,000, against 587,000 last year, and in the United States, 1,728,000, against 1,565,000 last year.

NEWPORT NEWS REAL WARM TOWN

Virginia Records Show Temperature Reached Highest Point There Last Year.

BURKES GARDEN COLDEST

Director Evans Dopes Up Figures for 1910 and Tells How Weather Varied.

Virginia during 1910 was one-tenth of a degree colder and considerably drier than its normal. Its warmest section was Newport News, and Burke's Garden, in the Great Valley, was the coldest section. Speers Ferry, in Scott county, was the wettest place in the State, while Lexington, in Rockbridge county, was the driest. These facts and other interesting details are contained in the annual summary of Virginia's weather, prepared by Edward A. Evans, director at Richmond of the Virginia section of the United States Weather Bureau.

The annual mean temperature for the State shows the year 1910 to have been but one-tenth of one degree below the normal. This condition was brought about by dry and cooler weather prevailing from May to August, inclusive, and in November and December. The first four months of the year were warm for the season, and also warm temperatures and the excess in temperature accumulating during these six months was not quite sufficient to bring the annual mean up to the normal.

Year Was Very Dry.

The average of all station reports shows the year to have been dry, the average deficiency being slightly more than three inches. January, April, July and October were wet, the other seven months being generally dry. The counties of greatest precipitation were Surry, Southampton, Spotsylvania and Stafford, while droughty conditions prevailed in Rockbridge and those counties in the north.

The mean annual temperature of the State, 54.7 degrees, was 0.1 degree below the normal. Newport News, with an annual mean temperature of 56.7 degrees, was the warmest station, and Burke's Garden, with an annual mean of 47.7 degrees, the coldest. The highest and lowest temperatures were 82 degrees on June 22 and July 26 and 27, and 9 degrees below zero, on December 22, the former occurring at Lincoln and the latter at Burke's Garden.

The last killing frost of the spring occurred in the Appalachian and Blue ridge portions, on May 13; in Middle Virginia, on March 29, and in Tidi-water Virginia, on April 8, while the first killing frost of the autumn was recorded in these divisions on October 24, 29 and 30, respectively.

Precipitation Below Normal.

The annual precipitation was below the normal in all parts of the State except in localities in the eastern and upper Tidewater counties and along the western border, where it was slightly in excess. June, with an average of 4.6 inches, and November, with an average of 1.7 inches, were the wettest and the driest months, respectively, of the year. The annual precipitation ranged from 30.7 inches at Speers Ferry, in Scott county, to 52.29 inches at Dale Enterprise, in Richmond county, in Rockbridge county, in June, and the least trace at Stephens City, in Frederick county, in March. Showing in varying amounts, fell in all parts of the State in the first, third and last two months of the year, also locally in April, May and October in the mountain portions. By months, the greatest local monthly snowfalls were: January, 2.33 inches; February, 5.0 inches; March, 6.5 inches; April, 2.0 inches; October, 3.0 inches; November, 2.1 inches, and December, 2.1 inches.

Richmond Conditions.

Climatological data for the year at Richmond follows:
Temperature—Annual mean temperature, 57.2 degrees, or 1.3 degrees colder than normal; highest temperature, 83 degrees, on September 15; lowest temperature, 10 degrees, on February 7.
Precipitation—Total precipitation for year, 43.41 inches, or 1.51 inches greater than normal; greatest monthly precipitation, 8.74, in April; least monthly precipitation, 0.93, in March; snowfall, total snowfall, 9.1 inches; number of rainy days, 127.
Sky Conditions—Clear days, 58; partly cloudy days, 169; cloudy days, 168.
Prevailing direction of the wind, south.
Last killing frost in spring, March 16; last killing frost in autumn, October 30.

Interurban Line Planned.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Sallysburg, N. C., January 20.—A movement has started looking to the building of an interurban line from Sallysburg to Cooleman, Mocksville, and perhaps Yadkinville and other points north of Rowan county. The proposed line would traverse a fertile section of collateral and link together a number of thriving towns now served by railroads. It is believed that such a line would prove profitable from the start, and a number of substantial business men are pushing the proposition.

NO CASES DECIDED BY HIGHER COURT

Will Be None This Week—Appeal in Lynchburg Suit—Cases Are Heard.

No decisions were handed down by the Supreme Court of Appeals, which held a session yesterday, after observing a day of rest on Thursday. It is not now expected that any decisions will be rendered this week. An examination of the docket shows that the cases heard at the court yesterday were practically all disposed of in the batch of opinions last week, and there remains now only the cases heard during the present term. Some decisions on these are expected next Thursday.
The court yesterday granted an appeal in the case of Wilmington L. Morgan and William Hurt against the city of Lynchburg. It appears that in 1886 a subdivision was made on lots and streets, and upon the basis of the map then prepared the city claims rights over the streets. The petitioners, who lost the case in the Lynchburg Corporation Court, claim that the portion of the property owned by them should contain no streets.

Cases Argued.

Proceedings yesterday were as follows:
Green's and Parker's administrators against Marye, Auditor; argued by Eppa Hunton, Jr., for the plaintiffs in error, and by Assistant Attorney-General Richard B. Davis, for the defendants in error, and submitted.
A Wickham and Northrop, receivers, against Lettwin's administrators; partly argued by H. S. Bloomberg, for the plaintiffs in error, and by Edgar B. English and M. J. Fulton, for the defendants in error, and continued to today.
Norfolk Fire Insurance Corporation against Talley; passed to March term.
The session to-day will be held in lieu of Thursday's holiday.

Next cases to be called: Coleman against Virginia State and Heating Company and others; Ford and others against Chief; Cohen and Winston, receivers, against Walford, collector; Jackson's administrators against Wickham and Northrop, receivers; Norfolk and Ocean View Railway Company against Consolidated Turnpike Company and others; City National Bank of Roanoke, Va., against Hundley and others; Western State Hospital against General Board of Directors of State Hospital for the Insane.

OPENING OF RAILROAD CELEBRATED IN ROANOKE

Reception and Banquet Attended by Prominent Men of Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina.
(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
Roanoke, Va., January 20.—The reopening of the Winston-Salem Southbound Railway was fittingly celebrated here this evening with a reception and banquet at the Hotel Roanoke, the affair being given under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of Roanoke.

Officials of many railroads and leading business and professional men of Virginia, North and South Carolina were among the guests.

President L. E. Johnson, of the Norfolk and Western Railroad, acted as toastmaster. Among the speakers were the Rev. Arthur Rowbotham, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church; R.
H. Angell, president of the Roanoke Chamber of Commerce; Captain F. C.
Robbins, of Lexington, N. C.; Mayor Joel H. Cutchins, of Roanoke; President H. E. Fries, of the Southbound Railway; Mayor R. Goodwyn Rhett, of Charleston, S. C.; President T. M. Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad; Judge Waller B. Staples, Mr. G.
A. Wingfield, of Norfolk, general attorney of the Virginia Railway; Lucian H. Cocks, general attorney of the Norfolk and Western Railway, and the Rev. J. W. Cantej Johnson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Neuro Instantly Killed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Hampton, Va., January 20.—While working fifty feet above the ground, Armistead Harris, colored, was instantly killed at the power plant of the Newport News and Old Point Railway Electric Company this afternoon. One of the iron trucks ran away and crushed in the negro's skull.

FIRE AT ORPHANS' HOME.

Laundry and Sewing Room Building at Goldboro Destroyed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Goldboro, N. C., January 20.—At an early hour this morning fire destroyed the laundry and sewing room building of the Odd-Fellows' Orphans' Home in this city, the original home proper, the first to be erected when the home was established here.

The fire started from a defective hearth of an open fireplace, and spread through the lower room and hall, and up the stairs before it was discovered.
The damage is estimated between $5,000 and $8,000, and is fully covered by insurance.
